Council Okays Meter Bill, Splits Over Public Housing

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Low-rent public housing has replaced parking meters as the number one raging controversy in City Council.

In what turned out to be their stormiest and most lengthy session of the year, the legislators Tuesday night settled a seven-month hassle over parking meter payments, but wasted little time in setting up new battle lines over the public housing issue.

By a unanimous 6-0 vote, Council passed legislation authorizing payment of $12,842 to the Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City for 278 parking meters ordered for the city by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer in 1961 and installed along downtown curbs.

As for the public housing issue, despite the objections of all three Republican councilmen, a three-member committee was set up to study the possibility and advisability of having low-rent public units built in Salem.

The meters will be paid for at a rate of $417 per month, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1962. Money for these payments will come from revenue produced by all of the city's parking meters. An ordinance was passed last night, setting up a fund which will receive all money collected from municipal lot and on-street meters.

This ordinance amended previous legislation which required that all parking meter revenue go into the general fund. Unofficially, a parking meter fund containing $14,677 already had been established by Auditor Helen Coyne.

The auditor had started the fund on her own last November upon the recommendation of a state examiner.

The parking meter issue did not bow out gracefully last night. Two amendments which would have provided for payment of the meters over a shorter length of time failed by one vote of getting the required majority.

The amendments, proposed by Charles Gibbs (R. 2nd Ward), gained the support of the three Republican councilmen but were turned down by the three Democrats present. The seventh councilman, Fred Koenreich (D. at-large), has not been able to attend recent meetings since he is recovering from a heart attack.

Study Set of Low-Rent Units Issue

The Republicans, led by Gibbs, wanted to pay the entire $12,842 now since the money is available and eliminate the necessity of stringing out the payments over the next two years. The Democrats, with James Aldom (D. at-large) doing most of the battling, fought for the monthly payments so that the city would have use of the money interest free before the payments became due.

"This is just good business practice," Aldom remarked. "If we were paying interest on this money it would be different," he added, "but we long ago lost the cash discount we could have received if we had paid this bill promptly."

Payment had been held up due to a dispute between the mayor who ordered the meters and the auditor who said they were purchased without the proper authorization from her and Council. When City Solicitor Thomas Coe upheld the auditor's stand, the parking meter firm filed a claim against the city to collect the $12,842. Locally, each side accused the other of making a "political football" out of the issue.

After Gibbs' two unsuccessful attempts at amending the ordinance, the legislators voted unanimously to approve payment of the claim at the rate of $417 per month, which was the rate suggested by the parking meter firm.

Discussion of Mayor Cranmer's proposal to ask the federal government for funds to build approximately 100 public low-rent housing units in Salem took up over half of the four-hour meeting last night.

L. Dale Zent, a member of an Atlanta, Ga., architecture firm which has designed numerous low-rent units throughout the country for the government, was on hand to show slides and explain the opportunities for low-rent public housing.

The Public Low-Rent Housing Program which the mayor would like Salem to share in is a joint local-federal effort to provide decent housing for individuals and families who are unable to afford standard housing in the private market. Grants are made to insure the low-rent nature of the project, and loans are available to facilitate construction.

Proponents of public housing say it does not compete with persons with rentals since the public low-rent units are available only to persons with very limited incomes.

Zent said that public housing can be built with federal funds at no cost to the city.

If a city decides it wants the low-rent units, it generally takes about two years to have them ready for occupancy, Zent said. "It takes about one year for paper work and one year for construction," he stated.

The fireworks started last night when Aldom moved that Mayor Cranmer be commended for his work thus far in his investigation of low-rent housing, and that he be authorized to investigate further the possibility of getting some units for Salem.

Once again Council divided sharply along political lines.

Jack Rance (R. at-large) stated strongly that he was against the city's taking part in what he called "a federal grab bag." "This sounds to me like just another case of federal bureaucracy," Rance remarked.

Aldom bitterly criticized Rance's stand. "I believe that it is the duty of members of this Council to do everything they can to see to it that taxpayers of this community get every nickel back that they have coming to them," Aldom stated.

Harold Asty (D. 3rd Ward) and Albert Lesch (D. 1st Ward) voted with Aldom in favor of authorizing the mayor to continue efforts to get public low-rent housing for the city.

Joining Rance in opposition were Gibbs and Ralph Zimmerman (R. 4th Ward).

President of Council Ford Joseph, Jr., who like the mayor is a Democrat, broke the tie with a vote in favor of the continuing look at public housing possibilities. He appointed Gibbs, Zimmerman and Asty to a committee to look into the matter further.

Mixed feelings about public housing were also in evidence among the approximately 15 visitors at last night's Council meeting. One of the visitors, Mrs. Doris Stiver, adviser to the Salem Senior Citizens organization, stated that she is convinced that there is a need for some type of low-rent housing in Salem, particularly for the elderly.

One other piece of legislation passed by Council last night was an ordinance transferring $910.82 from the contingency fund for the purchase of a street liner machine.

Mayor Cranmer reported that all street resurfacing projects now under contract should be completed within the next four or five days. Streets involved are Columbia, S. Broadway and Second.

A claim against the city for $87.24 by the H. I. Hine Motor Co., 570 S. Broadway, was denied for the second time. Council had agreed to reconsider the claim which resulted from damage allegedly done to one of that firm's vehicles when a city street buckled under it early this spring.

C. F. "Rusty" Tomlinson, superintendent of parks and recreation, reported that bids will be advertised next week for construction of hard-surface tennis courts at Centennial Park. Bids will be opened 30 days after the project is first advertised.

Upon questioning by two visitors, Roy Merrell, 636 E. Second St., and Mrs. Letha Asty, 1490 E. State St., Mayor Cranmer reported that "walk" lights will be installed within the next 30 or 35 days at at least two downtown intersections.

Councilman Zimmerman chairman of the safety committee, said plans are to install the walk lights at all four downtown State St. intersections as soon as possible.

Test Ban Truce To Be Urged by Neutral Nations

Indian Delegates At Geneva Doubts U.S., Russian Sincerity

GENEVA (AP)—Nonaligned nations were expected to appeal again today at the 17-nation disarmament conference for the major nuclear powers to agree speedily on a permanent ban on nuclear weapon tests.

Indian delegate Arthur Lal told the conference Tuesday the Soviet and U.S. delegates have agreed in speeches that a test ban must be concluded, but he said he was "skeptical about their good words."

"Test series has followed test series," he said, "and I have heard rumors that additional high-altitude test series will be carried out."

Lall also said internationally renowned scientists have changed their views on the danger of nuclear fallout.

"There is now more peril involved in fallout than was thought in the past, and it is now time for the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union to prove what they mean in their statements," he said.

Lall told the conference he thought the United States had accepted—as a basis for negotiations—the compromise test ban proposals put forward by the eight nonaligned conference members last April. But he said he apparently was wrong, judging from a statement last week by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk said that recent developments in the detection of underground explosions might result in progress in the test ban negotiations. Lall said this raised the question of whether the United States was still working on the basis of the neutralist proposal or had reverted to the draft treaty it submitted last year.

U.S. delegate Arthur H. Dean told Lall the United States had

As Large As 13-Story Building

'Big Shot' Balloon Blasted Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The largest space vehicle ever sent aloft — a balloon which inflated to the height of a 13-story building — was rocketed 950 miles above the Atlantic Ocean today as a forerunner of an advanced Echo communications satellite.

The gleaming silvery sphere, dubbed "Big Shot," provided a brief but spectacular show for ground observers in the Cape Canaveral area as it separated from the Thor booster, expanded to its full 135-foot diameter, and drifted across the predawn sky. It was visible for nearly 10 minutes before becoming obscured by haze and cloud.

Clouds apparently confined observation of the big ball to the Cape area. Clear skies would have permitted observation of the balloon throughout much of the eastern United States.

Today's shot was to determine whether the balloon would expand and hold its form after being sent aloft. There were no communications tests.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced success of the mission, which paves the way for launching a similar balloon into orbit later this year as the Echo II experimental communications satellite.

After rising to 950 miles the balloon plunged back and burned up as intended in the earth's atmosphere. Death of the sphere occurred about 23 minutes after the 4:30 a.m. launching, some 600 miles south of the cape. "Big Shot" is easily the largest package ever sent into space. However, many U.S. satellites have weighed much more than its 510 pounds.

A television camera mounted in the head of the Thor booster rocket sent live pictures of the balloon inflation to a monitor on the Cape. Officials reported they were of excellent quality and clearly showed the inflating of the balloon after it was released from a canister in the nose of the Thor.

Recovery craft waited about 250 miles northeast of San Salvador to try to pick up films made by a movie camera aboard the rocket that also recorded the inflation process.

Greenford Man Hired by Board

Anderson County School Supervisor

LISBON — Urton Anderson of Greenford is the new high school supervisor for the Columbiana County rural school system.

The County Board of Education gave him a two-year contract Tuesday at $7,700 for 12 months plus $600 for travel. The system has four high schools: Beaver Local, United, Southern at Salineville, and Crestview.

Principal of Fairfield building in Fairfield-Waterford Local District, Anderson was one of seven applicants, all from the county system. He succeeds Mrs. Marilyn Solak of Salineville who resigned to go to Youngstown schools as a high school consultant in English.

Anderson is a science major. He graduated from Harding High School at Marion in 1943 and served in the Navy in the Far East during World War II.

He graduated from Capital University in 1950, took graduate work at Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind., and received his master's degree in education from Kent State University in 1953. He has done graduate study at KSU since in administration and supervision.

Before joining the county system five years ago as a principal in Fairfield-Waterford District, he taught at Berlin Center Local.

U.S. Protests Harassment In Berlin Air Lane

First 'Buzzing' by Communist Planes Since Last Winter

BERLIN (AP)—The United States has protested to Soviet officials against the buzzing of an American plane by a Soviet jet in one of the West Berlin air corridors Tuesday.

It was the first Soviet harassment of Allied traffic in the air corridors since last winter. It came only hours before President Kennedy called in the Soviet ambassador in Washington and told him the West has no intention of withdrawing its troops from Berlin.

The U.S. mission here said the American plane was a DC3 of the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency on its way from Hamburg, West Germany, to West Berlin's Tempelhof Airport to check navigational aids.

The Soviet MIG swooped within 400 feet of the DC3's nose just after the American plane had crossed the Iron Curtain border into Communist East German territory. The MIG then took a position off the wing of the U.S. plane.

The MIG withdrew after a few minutes. The DC3 continued to Berlin and made an extensive flight over the city, checking radio beams and other flight aids.

In Bloodless Coup

Peru President Is Seized by Military

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Troops moved in on the government palace early today and seized President Manuel Prado in a military coup.

The coup, climaxing weeks of crisis, was bloodless.

Tanks and troops surrounded the palace, then Prado was taken away in a military vehicle.

The military acted after charging that the June 10 presidential elections were fraudulent.

A last minute political deal to swing the disputed presidency to former dictator Manuel Odría failed.

The target of the army wrath was Victor Raul Maya de la Torre, controversial political figure who ran first in the election but failed to get enough votes for the presidency.

A leftist but anti-Communist, he long has been at odds with the army and other politicians.

His Popular Revolutionary Alliance (APRA) agreed Tuesday to throw the presidency to the rightist Odría, who was third in the voting.

The military, however, apparently would not settle for such an

Compromise Measure Tabled By 52-48 Vote

Action Denounced By JFK; Lauded by Medical Association

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has killed the administration's compromise medical care plan for the elderly on a 52-48 vote branded by President Kennedy as "a most serious defeat for every American family."

Kennedy promptly fired his stinging reverse by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats into a major issue for the November congressional elections and said he would offer the program again next year.

The American Medical Association, which led the fight against the program that would have been financed through higher Social Security payments, said Tuesday's Senate action was "a vote in the public interest."

Kennedy had placed the medical care plan in the top priority bracket of his legislative program. The coalition that scrapped it was of the same pattern of the one that had killed two of his other major proposals in the House — his farm bill and his plan to set up a Department of Urban Affairs.

Joining 21 Republicans to kill the medical care plan were 21 Democrats, 17 of them Southern. Five Republicans who cosponsored the compromise voted with 43 Democrats in trying to save it.

The showdown was on approval of a motion by Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to table and thus kill an amendment by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., that would have hooked the plan onto a House-passed public welfare bill.

The climax to the most bitterly fought issue of the current session came at midafternoon in a packed Senate chamber. All 100 senators were on hand. Many House mem-

Gen. Clay Notes Substantial Improvement In West Berlin

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Writer

President Kennedy's personal representative to Berlin feels Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be using that perennial crisis to sow fears and differences among the Western Allies and impede European progress toward political unity.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who commanded the 1948-49 operation that broke the Berlin blockade, says he notes substantial improvement in West Berlin's situation at the moment and adds he sees no immediate change in prospect.

But he cautions Khrushchev conceivably might risk war over the city, not because he wants free West Berlin that badly, but because "he wants to destroy the movement toward political unity in Western Europe."

Clay, to many Germans a symbol of a U.S. promise not to abandon West Berlin to communism, advanced his views in an exclusive and unusually illuminating interview in New York with The Associated Press, the first half of which follows in question and answer form. The second half of the interview will be presented Thursday.

Q. You are getting to be quite a commuter to Berlin aren't you, general?

A. Well I hope I'll be lengthening the time between visits, because I think they are in a status quo there now. It could last for many, many months.

Q. Why?

A. Well in the first place the morale of the people in Berlin has withstood the wall and there is not much that the Communists can do to frighten Berlin short of those measures that would undoubtedly lead to massive counter measures. The pin-pricks which they might exert against the Allies carried great risk. And they proved to be a failure in disturbing the Berliners. So I don't see what they have to gain out taking that risk.

Q. Will your mission continue for the duration of the Berlin crisis?

A. I don't think we know. The President has asked me to continue as an advisor and obviously there is very little advice to give as long as we stay in the position of status quo. As far as Berlin is concerned there has been a substantial improvement.

Q. In what way?

A. Well the morale of the people has returned to normal and in fact I think they are probably more determined than ever to hold out. The economy of the city has recovered from the initial shock and looks like it is on the move again.

Q. But the basic situation as between the West and the Russians?

A. It remains unchanged and I don't see any immediate change in prospect.

Q. What do you suppose was behind Khrushchev's recent proposal, which we rejected, that Western troops in Berlin be replaced by Norwegian-Danish or Belgian-Dutch plus Czech-Polish forces?

A. I think Mr. Khrushchev would like very much to get the Allies out of West Berlin. The presence of the Allied troops there and the rapid development of the city has of course made it a veritable citadel of freedom behind the Iron Curtain which he would like to destroy.

Now this proposal to replace the Allies with the troops of other nations, of course, doesn't make very much sense. We are in Berlin as a result of victory in war. Many of these nations were not even in the war. There is no right to garrison Berlin per se. The people of West Berlin cannot be made to accept garrisons from any and all countries.

We have added to that a firm commitment to the people of West Berlin that as long as they want our troops there they will be there. We couldn't give up on that commitment under any circumstances.

Q. Why do you suppose Khrushchev brought it up? Is it some sort of a gambit?

A. Yes, I think it's to show—before the world—that he is willing to compromise and find a settlement. He has several times said he would be glad to see West Berlin made into an international city. Now by that he means a city completely free and independent but having no connections with the Federal Republic of Germany. And of course a little enclave like West Berlin, entirely behind the Iron Curtain, would quickly fade away if it did not have its connections with the Federal Republic.

Q. Khrushchev said that the possibility of war over Berlin is "ever more ominous." What do you think?

A. I would say that possibility is entirely under the control of Mr. Khrushchev. Only if Mr. Khrushchev takes aggressive actions to destroy the city, to lessen the authority and responsibility of the Allies, will war become a possibility or a threat. So Mr. K to this extent is in control. He can make it a place where war can easily break out. But no one but Mr. K can do that.

Q. But your general feeling is that tension has lessened and the possibility of war is lower?

A. I think you have got to remember that the tensions we are speaking of are two different kinds. The important tension which existed between the U.S. and its Allies and Russia has abated. The constant needling of the Allies by the Soviets and East Germans has stopped. They are no longer threatening our air corridors. The general atmosphere is much more free of tension than it has been for some time. This is why it is possible to conduct talks that are going on now.

On the other hand the tension between the East German and the West German in Berlin has not abated. The wall is still there. The constant attempts of desperate people to escape through the wall leads to constant shootings across the border. People are killed quite frequently.

Q. The question of Berlin constantly comes up in Communist discussions of other issues such as nuclear weapons and disarmament. In propaganda to Germany the Communists say the U.S. is planning "new harassing maneuvers" against any solution in Berlin and intending to direct some sort of West German atomic aggression eastward. Are they leading up to something?

A. Of course, the Soviet government has already indicated its considerable apprehension over the growth of the Common Market and over its movement toward political unity. It has always been their view that these kinds of movements could be stopped by creating new tensions, new apprehensions, new fears. I have a feeling that their actions against Berlin have this in view.

For this reason, and since the alliance continues to grow very strongly towards eventual political union, I am inclined to believe that we may expect further pushes from Mr. K against Berlin.

At the present moment the economy of East Germany is in rather bad shape. That economy is oriented to West Germany and without trade with Western Germany it might indeed put East Germany in a very difficult economic position. Great efforts are being made to re-orient the economy of East Germany toward Warsaw Pact countries. This will take some time.

I doubt if the Communist countries will be included to take any moves that risk a break in the East German West German trade until they have succeeded in re-orienting the East German economy. This is another reason why I think we have an interlude of relative quiet in Berlin.

Q. You think, then, if he does do anything about Berlin it's primarily with an eye toward undermining the Western alliance?

A. There is a possibility that to stop the development of Western European political unity he might even be willing to risk war. It is certain he wouldn't risk war just for Berlin. So if these developments take place, if he begins to take the actions which could lead to war in Berlin it would not be because he wants Berlin. It would be because he wants to destroy the movement toward political unity in Western Europe.

Q. Khrushchev and other Communists have been repeating word for word the Warsaw Pact declaration of June 7, that unless the West agrees to sign peace treaties with both Germans, the East will go ahead on its own with all the consequences that it involves. Does this sound to you like a new ultimatum in the making?

A. This ultimatum has been one that has existed since 1958 and it is now 1962. I would suppose that there will come a time when Mr. K does have to go ahead with a peace treaty. Even if he does he could put in the reservations which would protect the rights of the Allies in West Berlin. If he doesn't why of course the peace treaty could lead to very serious consequences. I don't know when he is going to sign this peace treaty, if ever. I can't get excited because he talks about it again, since it has been a constant threat since 1958.

I also think it is very important that we must remember several things about this Berlin situation. One—I think a very important one—is that we gave up almost half of what is now East Germany for the position which we hold in Berlin. There wouldn't be an East Germany of any consequence if we had not given up the territory which we had captured in exchange for the position which we hold in West Berlin.

Q. You are speaking of the wartime agreements?

A. Yes. Under these agreements, too, the only troops allowed in West Berlin were Allied troops. We have lived up to that. On the other hand, the Soviet government started raising an East German Army very quickly and they have stationed that army in East Berlin. We have never stationed any troops from the Federal Republic of West Germany in West Berlin. Now as a result of all that, certain basic commitments have been made publicly and solemnly, and negotiations cannot break away from these firm commitments. There are not very many.

They are basically — first, we will maintain Allied right of access on the ground and complete freedom of access in the air. Second, we will maintain the viability of West Berlin, meaning freedom of movement for persons and goods into West Berlin. Third, we have agreed that we will maintain our garrisons in West Berlin as long as the people of West Berlin want them.

We have also agreed with the Federal Republic not to recognize any other government as speaking for any portion of the German people other than the Federal Republic until the German people themselves have selected in free elections a government of their own. We have also agreed to support the future reunification of Germany. Finally, and I also think very importantly, we have said that we intend to support no lessening of the ties that exist between West Berlin and the Federal Republic.

The second half of the Clay interview will appear Thursday.

Those Turnpike Tunnels

Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself has said, as he approached one of the Pennsylvania Turnpike tunnels, "I hope I make this one all right."

Another tragic, fiery crash inside a tunnel, this time the Laurel Hill shaft, has left two killed and 38 overcome by smoke inhalation. The car-truck crash was similar to the one earlier that claimed the lives of a Youngstown couple. That elderly man and his wife were returning from Florida, as were the victims of Monday's accident.

The frequency of the accidents points up the inadequacies of the tunnels to accommodate the ever-increasing flow of turnpike traffic, much of it coming from our district because of the proximity of the super highway.

It is our understanding that engineers are at work on plans for new, bigger and safer tunnels in the Alleghenies, but improvements may be years away from completion. Meanwhile, observe all the rules for safety's sake, and if you suffer from claustrophobia, let someone else take the wheel.

There's No Place Like It

The Committee for Economic Development will get no further with its notion about getting rid of surplus farmers to stop farm subsidies than Ezra Taft Benson got with the same notion when he was secretary of agriculture in President Eisenhower's Cabinet.

But it's an interesting proposition, no matter who makes it.

The only thing wrong with it is it's so logical it has no more appeal than a frozen fish. It has no political attractiveness. It cuts across the grain of a feeling only slightly less vibrant than devotion to home and mother — that life on the farm is better than life elsewhere.

Song writers, novelists and poets wax sentimental about it. The weak and ailing are advised to live on farms until their health improves.

There is a fixed belief that only on farms do people manage to get in touch with the eternal verities that can steer them through difficulties as the fixed stars steer mariners.

AND ON TOP of everything else there is a near-holy conviction that farming has a built-in dignity never approached in any other pursuit, least of all such contrived activities as are associated with the "rat race" of the mid-20th-century years.

It stands to reason that if farmers are producing chronic oversupplies of food and fiber there must be too much production and presumably too many producers. It stands to reason that any government making farming attractive when there already are too many farmers must not know whether it is going or coming.

But farming is not an exercise in logic. It is an exercise in emotionalism and politics. That is why the CED proposal for getting rid of surplus farmers and thereby getting rid of surplus production and subsidies will be rejected out of hand. It is unthinkable as proposing that the United States should get rid of bleeding hearts.

ACTUALLY, things are better than they seem to be. No one knows how many bona fide farmers there are. Millions classified as rural residents are just that, nothing more.

Millions are so inefficient they contribute nothing to farming.

The 1960 census showed 69.9 of the country's population was urban. If there had been a clear definition of what it takes to be a bona fide farmer, the urban proportion would have been as high as four out of five — 80 per cent or better.

If farming continues to dwindle in proportion to everything else, the time may not be far off when new farmers will have to be recruited.

So Much For Fair Shares

A shakeup of one-third of the 21-member British cabinet, in a move to appease critics of the Macmillan government, sounds drastic and obviously is no maneuver. But

Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer, was the chief sacrificial lamb in the slaughter because he was under attack for what the Macmillan government called "fair shares."

The American name for fair shares is "productivity increase," the controversial principle that wages increases should be held to a point close to 3 1/2 per cent, on the assumption this isn't inflationary but anything more is borderline extortion and contrary to public policy.

British workers hated fair shares. They argued that workers should get as much as they could and devil take Selwyn Lloyd. They reasoned that economic survival demanded all the industrial traffic would bear because the cost of living continued to go up, fair shares or no fair shares.

The idea galled them so deeply they began to snipe at the Macmillan administration from all directions in the hope of bringing down the one man they blamed for fair shares. They have been successful.

What's going to happen to fair shares in the United States remains to be seen but isn't hard to guess.

ings, with seats inside for up to 10 passengers.

The people are big for picnicking. Many carry folding chairs and a folding table in their cars. They pull into a "lay-by" and have all the comforts of home in a jiffy. There are no roadside eating stands.

Motor-bikers are required by law to wear crash helmets. They are required by the weather to wear goggles, wind masks and wind-and-weather-proof clothing. They look like men from Mars until they unmask. They nearly always ride double and most of the time it's a he-she combination. Even babies go along in slings on their mother's backs, or more comfortably in plastic-enclosed sidecars.

Only one large vehicle is more noticeable than the universal double-deck buses that everybody sees in London but which are in all other cities too, sometimes painted colors besides the famous London red. Luxury motor coaches are everywhere, filled with tourists.

The tourists we saw were not Americans. On our 1,200-mile trip we saw scarcely any Americans because we were off the beaten paths most of the time. These coaches with their invariable bouquets of flowers and observation roofs were filled with Britons seeing their own country. Many were middle-aged women whose clothes and manners marked them as middle middle-class housewives.

Highway courtesy is conspicuous. Safe driving is conspicuous. After a few days you never think about keeping left. That is, you don't think about it in the back seat. I had thought at times about driving, then I remembered about old dogs and new tricks. I'd be fine unless I got into a jam, then my lifelong conditioned reflex would prompt me to swing in the wrong direction.

It was more sensible to let our son do the driving. He never had driven a car in Britain before but he had been bicycling there for upward of a year and had the necessary reflexes. Besides, he is a better driver than his old man anyway, except this, must never come to his attention and never will unless someone tattles.

Water-Guns At Ten Paces!

The Tariffs Question

Arthur Goldberg, secretary of labor, is Victor Riesel's "guest columnist" today. Mr. Goldberg was asked to discuss which of his many campaigns he believes of utmost importance for the long haul. His answer follows.

By ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG

One of the longest, liveliest, and most inconclusive debate in American history has been going on for nearly two centuries over the issue of tariffs.

Should tariffs be lowered to permit a free flow of goods and services across national boundaries?

Or should they be raised to protect American industries from import competition?

The issue never really has been settled. Throughout our history tariffs have been alternately raised and then lowered, as if the two sides were on a seesaw, with first one, and then the other, tipping the balance in its favor.

Although today that controversy still is as vigorous as ever, there now is a strong possibility that it can be brought to a constructive end.

Earlier this year President Kennedy proposed a Trade Expansion Act which I believe will meet and satisfy the arguments of both sides.

IT WILL SATISFY the need for expanded trade by authorizing the President to negotiate a reciprocal lowering of tariffs with other nations, thus accelerating the exchange of goods and services between our nation and the rest of the free world.

It will satisfy the need for protectionism by offering adjustment assistance to those firms and workers adversely affected by the rising import competition that lower tariffs would surely bring.

The grade proposal is a part—and an important part—of the President's overall program for moving this country forward towards the goals of maximum production and full employment.

To illustrate just how important access to the fertile and growing consumer markets of Western Europe and Japan, thereby increasing the nation's exports by several billions of dollars. That also would put several hundreds of thousands of workers in the payrolls.

THE BUREAU of Labor Statistics has recently completed some studies on this subject for the year 1960. It found that more than three million workers in this country held jobs supported by exports, while another one million had jobs supported by imports.

In sum, about four million American workers were employed in 1960 on jobs relating directly to our foreign trade. Not only do these four million jobs provide paychecks for four million workers and their families; they also serve as important sources of income for those who supply the four million families with goods and services.

There are, of course, two sides to the import picture. It is frequently said, and with some justification, that imports do harm to American industries and take away jobs from American workers.

THIS ARGUMENT is not as strong as some make it out. During the time that the United States Tariff Commission has been investigating complaints from industries about import competition, for example, only about 28,000 workers were found to have been displaced in cases where the escape clause had to be applied.

Clearly, this is a small loss when compared with the benefits of foreign trade.

Over the next five years, if the Trade Expansion Act is passed into law, these benefits will be increased.

We have estimated that for ever $1 billion increase in exports, 150,000 American jobs will be created.

The tariff-cutting authority granted in the act would help American producers gain greater Guns or Butter?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Both U.S., Russia Staggered by Arms Costs

How can the armament expense of the United States — approaching $50 billion a year — be materially reduced so that an era of business growth and a sound economy can be achieved in America?

This question is more important than a tax cut or any other "gimmick" being advanced as a cure for the stagnant economy of today. For the truth is America cannot absorb the present-day expense for armament and grow productively at the same time. America, in other words, cannot have "guns and butter, too."

Most important is the fact that Moscow has discovered this same truism with respect to the Soviet Union.

The 17-nation conference on disarmament between the East and the West, which has just resumed in Geneva, cannot accomplish much, however, with a formula that calls for nations to abolish their defenses or to stop exploring the merits of new weapons. Nor is there a likelihood that an agreement can be reached to permit inspection. What is more plausible is to find a means of agreeing on the amounts of armament expense as a ratio of national budgets.

Each country—the Soviet Union and the United States — will wish to be the judge of how it will spend its own money allocated to defense and what weapons it will produce but if a budget limitation on arms spending were imposed by mutual understanding between the Soviet Union and the United States, the economic development on each side would be stimulated, and there would be a greater opportunity to improve the standard of living of peoples and to stimulate a return to a natural economy.

PREMIER KHRUSHCHEV is worried about his economic troubles. He blames the armament expense for his failure to carry out promises to the people. He cries out that Western countries are driving him into spending more and more for military purposes. He says unequivocally that, if it weren't for the threat from the West, he would be able to employ more of the national budget of the Soviet Union for better housing, for better transportation, and for more aids to agriculture and industry.

Moscow needs an agreement on reduction of armament even more than does the United States. But the American people, like the Russian people, would like to see armament reduced primarily because they have been taught to believe that the mere existence of powerful instruments of war can lead to war.

The truth is that, since the deadliness of nuclear weapons has been convincingly demonstrated on both sides, the movement to limit or reduce armament has taken on considerable impetus though not enough to bring an effective international agreement.

BEFORE LONG a different and perhaps almost as powerful stimulus may come from a calm consideration of the threat to economic stability which can arise inside the Soviet Union, as well as inside the United States, if armament expense isn't substantially reduced.

No formula has as yet been advanced by either side in the international conferences that gives any promise of an agreement. Each side is afraid of the other.

The argument has long turned on inspection, but no procedure or mechanism has been devised thus far that will satisfy both sides. An agreement on budget limitation, however, involves a different approach. The amounts of money spent are much more readily ascertained and verified than the facts concerning the location of mobile weapons at any given time.

It could be that, once a mutual agreement to limit and reduce expense is attained and proves satisfactory for a period of time, other provisions for armament reduction can then be taken up and possibly approved on a trial basis.

One thing is clear — neither side dares to disarm completely. Public opinion would not approve of such a policy either in the Soviet Union or in the United States. Neither side can afford, moreover, to give up its scientific research for better and less expensive weapons. But each government can agree in its own self-interest to cut down on spending for armament.

The zenith of destructive power has been reached. The problem now is one of maintenance, which certainly should not be as expensive as the sums paid out during the last nine years to attain what now may be called the saturation point in national security.

INTERNATIONAL agreements are rarely arrived at by powers of persuasion or by emotional appeals. They are made possible as a rule only when they become of direct benefit to both sides. The common obligation today is to economize on armament spending so that more funds can be devoted to bettering the lives of the respective peoples on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

This would make possible, too, a reduction of tensions in the cold war and would give the normal processes of trade a chance to expand. For individuals — a growing number of consumers — would have more to spend for an improving standard of living. It is today the key to a business revival in the United States.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a young married woman with a small family. My husband is a good man and we have always gotten along well together. The problem is this:

In the last two years he has asked me no less than a dozen times to take an oath that I will never remarry if he should die. I have refused to make such a promise because I'm not sure I could keep it. We are both in our late 20s and in good health. I see no reason for him to dwell on such morbid thoughts.

He is becoming more and more insistent and now we argue over this about once a week. Shall I promise him, with fingers crossed, just to put an end to the nagging? Please advise me. I am — EGG ZAUSTED

Dear Egg: Promises with crossed fingers are for 5-year-olds. Don't let your husband's immaturity put you in a false position.

It is unreasonable and childish for your husband to try to exact a promise which would regulate your behavior in 40 years. You can't possibly know now what may be best for you when you are 75.

Learned Too Late

Dear Ann: If "Too Young" only knew how wise her aunt is she'd thank her lucky stars instead of complaining because "the old battle-ax" won't give her permission to date at 13.

When I was 13 I thought I was mature for my age, too. My mother didn't want me to date so young but I was headstrong and she finally got tired of fighting so she let me have my way. I was dating at 13, going steady at 14, married at 17 and divorced at 19.

I'm 21 now, with a three-year-old child to support. As I look back at my teen years, I could have talked anybody's head off to prove that I knew what I was doing.

It's not a good feeling to be barely old enough to vote and realize you've messed up your life. I'm not blaming my mother but I can promise you, Ann, I'm going to be a lot stricter with MY daughter than my mother was with me. — FRISCO SAL.

Dear Sal: Thanks for your honest letter. It's too bad some kids have to jump off cliffs in order to learn first hand what's at the bottom.

You don't blame your mother, and this is good, but I do. Parents have the responsibility of guiding and controlling their children. They must stick to their position and not cave in when the teens give out with that familiar old battle cry "But everybody's doing it!"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Our Fathers' Flag

By HAL BOYLE

WALLAND, Tenn. (AP) — In America's war of brother against brother a hundred years ago, a detachment of Confederate cavalry once saluted the U.S. Stars and Stripes—and thereby unknowingly saved their lives.

This odd and little-known incident, documented by Miss Inez Burns, a local historian, happened early in that long ago civil strife that tore the nation asunder.

Turbulent Tennessee—the last state to secede from the union and the first to be readmitted—was divided in loyalty.

The sentiment in the slave-holding flatlands was pro-Southern. But many of the tradition-minded mountaineers, whose ancestors had fought valorously for independence in the Revolutionary War, were strongly pro-Union.

Bitterness developed when Confederate troops stationed in these foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains were ordered to disarm the local populace. The angry mountaineers, who cherished their squirrel rifles as a constitutional right, began holding Union rallies and erected flagpoles from which they defiantly flew Old Glory.

Learning that a Confederate officer, a Lt. White, was to lead his troops on a gun-seizure mission, a local judge warned him that he would encounter the Stars and Stripes floating from a pole in a narrow mountain pass.

"Now, let me ask you not to disturb that flag," he advised. "The mountain men placed it there. It belongs to them, and if you leave it undisturbed, you will be kindly treated on your trip. But as sure as you touch it or interfere with it, you will have to get out of those mountains."

Later Lt. White recalled: "I said nothing to the men about it, and as we went up the narrow defile, suddenly we came to the opening, and there floated at the top of a tall pole the Stars and Stripes in all its grandeur."

"I looked around and saw a number of the men with their guns raised as if to shoot. I halted the squad and made them a little speech, telling them to lower their guns. That was the flag under which we were born, and under which our fathers had fought, and many of them died."

"While we were engaged in ef-orts to establish a new government, and were fighting under a new flag, still that was the flag of our fathers, and let us honor it for its history and for the memory of our brave ancestors in its defense. Instead of doing it any injury, I proposed that we salute it."

"Then, following my leadership, they rode in single file, forming a circle around the pole, and we lifted our hats and reverently bowed our heads. Tears streamed down the faces of a number of men as we stood in this attitude before the old flag."

"After a brief silence the circle was broken and, forming twos, we went on. We knew nothing of anyone being in sight, but the news of our saluting the flag went faster than we traveled, and appeared to be known spontaneously all over."

"We were never treated with more hospitality and kindness by any people. They prepared us dinners of the best they had, fed our horses, took us into their homes, and were lavish in their acts of kindness. But they did not bring out their guns, and we could not find them."

What Lt. White didn't know at the time was that armed mountaineers had lurked in ambush on each side of the gap as the Confederates rode up.

Few Show Interest In Home Positions

LISBON — Columbiana County officials say there is little apparent interest in a scheduled Civil Service examination for a superintendent and matron for Kyes Memorial Children's Receiving Home at East Palestine.

The examinations will be given at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 14, at the Courthouse. Last date for receipt of applications is Tuesday, July 31. They may be obtained at the Courthouse from Auditor Kenneth Bell or from the department of state personnel, Columbus 15.

The superintendent's post will pay from $150 to $200 per month plus maintenance, and the matron's post from $125 to $150 plus maintenance. Examinations are restricted to legal residents of the county.

Other details are available from Auditor Bell or County Welfare Director Robert Bycroft.

The children's receiving home was closed Jan. 1 because of a financial pinch. County commissioners announced in April that it will be reopened, and asked for a Civil Service examination and eligibility list.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: For those who have gotten into the habit of using that old rocking chair again, I have found that noise, and marking of floors are eliminated when you glue some felt weather stripping on the bottom of the rockers. Another cute thing I learned from somewhere is when someone needs an icepack—and probably 99 out of 100 people don't keep ice packs in their house—if you wet a big fat towel and lay it in the freezer compartment of the refrigerator for 30 minutes or so, it will freeze itself.

Then put this frozen towel into a plastic bag, fold the end of the bag up and use it for an ice pack.

TRIVIAL

DEAR HELOISE: Here are a few more vinegar hints that you can pass on to that "local women's club" who asked you if you owned stock in the vinegar company!

For cleaning and polishing bathroom tile, use equal parts of vinegar and water, dip and wring cloth in this solution, and wipe the tile. Dry with an old turkish towel. Results . . . beautiful!

Before discarding artificial flowers that have become soiled, try this. Pour a cup full of salt into a large paper bag. Put a few flowers into the bag at a time and shake it vigorously. The salt probably won't look soiled to you but wait until you see the color of it when it is poured into the sink and the water turned on. I think you will be amazed!

MRS. H.R.O.

DEAR HELOISE: For what it's worth, here's a way to press men's woolen trousers, or any wool for that matter, without causing a shine.

For a sharp crease without causing the material to shine, place ordinary newspaper on the ironing board and put the pants leg of the trouser on top of the newspaper. Carefully place the crease in its proper place. Then fold the newspaper around the crease and over the top of the trouser.

Press with a fairly hot steam iron. The crease will be nice and sharp and there won't be a shine. The remaining parts of the trousers can also easily be pressed with the newspaper. Just tear the paper to smaller sizes for convenience. Saves pressing bills!

GLORIA WHYTE

If I did this, it would be just my luck to have the print come off on my husband's pants, but many are the letters that come in telling us about this method. I'm sure it must work.

I myself use a brown paper sack, though I am sure it does not do quite the pressing job that the thin newspaper would. Thanks for tipping us off.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Here is another use for a plastic cleaning bag. Tie it at the end with a piece of gardener's "twist-em" or a piece of string and fill with grass clippings! In this way, you don't have to bother having to pick up an empty basket on rubbish collection days. If you have a few holes in the bag.

Be very careful about plastic bags around children. All should be tied in knots before discarding and kept out of the reach of kiddies.

The President's move came two days before Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves for Geneva where he plans to talk over the East-West Berlin stalemate with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The occasion for their gathering in Geneva will be the signing of accords on the neutralization of Laos.

The effect of Kennedy's action is to reinforce Rusk's position at a crucial stage of the U.S.-Soviet talks.

The talks which began last September are deadlocked. There is little hope in official quarters that the deadlock can be broken in the predictable future. There is some lingering hope that if Khrushchev fully understands U.S. determination in support of West Berlin he may be willing to reach some agreement on what the diplomats call a "modus vivendi"—a way of living with the situation without stirring up major crises periodically.

It was authoritatively reported that Kennedy's main concern in the unusual session with Dobrynin was to emphasize personally the importance he attaches to the U.S. position that the Soviet demand for withdrawal of U.S., British and French troops from West Berlin is nonnegotiable.

before landing.

There were no indications that shots were fired, that the Soviet plane signaled the DC3 to land or that the two planes made radio contact. The American spokesman said he could not furnish the U.S. pilot's name or whereabouts, the markings on his aircraft or anything about the flight that might have made it of special interest to the Russians.

The spokesman said, however, that the Russians had advance word of the flight through a flight plan filed with the four-power Berlin Air Safety Center, one of the few places in Berlin where the British, French and Americans still have regular contact with the Russians.

Congress choose the president from among the three top men in the election unless the high man gets one-third of the total vote. Haya fell 6,000 votes short, Fernando Belaunde Terry came second and Odría was third. The leftist APRA and the rightist Odrista Union together will have a comfortable majority in the new Congress—if the military lets it meet.

After the APRA-Odría deal, outgoing President Manuel Prado restored Premier Carlos Monroya Paz Soldan and his Cabinet to office, rejecting all but one of the resignations the Cabinet had submitted Monday. The sole holdout, Navy Minister Guillermo Tirado, said his resignation was irrevocable.

Prado announced that the new Congress will meet July 28, as scheduled, to name the next president.

Odría, president from 1948-56, said in a radio-television broadcast he would accept the post if approved by Congress "for the sake of national unity."

Rhoades, acting in the absence of Mayor Robert McCreary, told another villager that Council believes the hall should be sold because of the expense of upkeep. He reported the current annual maintenance cost runs about $2,400.

The volunteer fire department is interested in buying the hall and remodeling it to house the fire engine and to serve for firemen, auxiliary and community meetings and social events. The fire engine is now stored in a private garage.

Rhoades agreed Council and fire department should fully cooperate, although Council did not vote to allow the firemen to buy the building.

Council has made little progress on its bid to buy a parcel of land through which the former Youngstown and Lake Erie Railroad ran.

Grover Williams, retired businessman, presented the petitions to Council.

FINE AFTER MISHAP

Ruby B. Yoder, 64, of Greenford, charged by police with failing to yield the right of way following a car-truck collision on N. Ellsworth Ave., at 3rd St. at 2:54 p.m. Tuesday, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer.

Police said she drove her car from 3rd St. onto Ellsworth into the path of a north-bound truck operated by Joseph A. Vigorito, 22, of Niles. The left front of the truck and right rear of the car were damaged. Neither driver was injured.

County Highway Work on Schedule

Road improvement work by the State Department of Highways is on schedule in Columbiana County, reports William P. McKenna, division 11 deputy director at New Philadelphia.

Paving work has been completed on the resurfacing of 1.6 miles of State Route 344 in Leetonia and 3.1 miles of State Route 154 between Lisbon and Elkton. The main job was completed July 13 although berm work remains to be done. City Asphalt and Paving Co. of Youngstown is doing the work on a $44,622 contract.

Also finished is the resurfacing of 4.7 miles in Columbiana, Harrison and Jefferson Counties, including a stretch of State Route 39 and 164 in Salineville. The completion was a month ahead of the scheduled date. The contract for $36,711 had been awarded to Edgar Spring Inc. of New Philadelphia.

Board

(now Western Reserve High School) 1951-54, and Boardman Junior High School, 1954-57.

Anderson's wife, Alice, is girls' physical education teacher at Greenford High School. They have two sons, aged 8 and 10, and a foster daughter, 16.

County Supt. James L. McBride said approximately 15 applications have been received for the position of executive head of United Local District. The post becomes vacant Aug. 1 with the retirement of Dale W. Gates after 37 years in education.

The board deferred until the next meeting Tuesday, Aug. 21, action on a transfer petition from Ralph and Shirley Kreps who live in the northwest corner of Franklin Township. They seek transfer from Southern Local to United Local where their children have been going to school three years. The board wants to determine if their property is contiguous to the United Local District boundary.

McBride reported that only four teachers are needed to fill out the county's 225-teacher staff. Beaver Local High School needs two for commercial subjects and English, and Fairfield-Waterford needs a commercial teacher and music instructor.

McBride and executive heads of the four districts will visit the surplus property warehouse at Columbus Thursday, Aug. 2.

Gas Company's Sampling Hit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—East Ohio Gas Co.'s proposed random sampling plan was to be examined further today by Northeast Ohio cities fighting the utility's proposal for a $33.9 million annual rate hike.

Dr. W. Edwards Deming, outside statistical expert who devised the plan, was expected to undergo further cross-examination at the Utilities Commission hearing. The sampling plan would involve inspection of East Ohio pipelines at 1,300 locations for purposes of property valuation.

Deming was questioned Tuesday by Assistant Cleveland Law Director James Harkins, who also appeared on behalf of Canton, Massillon and Akron.

Blue Cross Hospital Care Hike Is OK'd

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio Insurance Department has granted most of the Blue Cross hospitalization rate hike sought in 15 Southwestern Ohio counties.

Robert Mullins, state insurance chief, said Tuesday the increases, ranging from 50 cents to $1.90 monthly on individual contracts, will be effective Sept. 1.

The increases represent about 18 per cent of present costs. Hospital Care Corp., the Blue Cross agency, had asked for increases of about 21.5 per cent.

Present and new fees are: Standard 70-day group contracts—single, $2.75 to $3.25 a month; family, $6.95 to $8.05.

Standard 70-day bill-at-home contracts—single, $4.50 to $5.45; family, $9 to $10.90.

Comprehensive 120-day contracts—single, $4 to $5; family, $9.60 to $11.10.

The increases will affect approximately 1.6 million Blue Cross subscribers in Adams, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Drake, Clinton, Clark, Greene, Hamilton, Miami, Montgomery, Preble, Scioto and Warren counties and all of Highland County except Greenfield.

Legion Delegates May Take Stand On Communism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Delegates to the annual state convention of the American Legion, starting here Friday, may take a stand in the controversy over instruction on communism in public schools.

Among resolutions to be submitted is one by the Westerville and Bexley (Columbus posts defending the so-called "Spirit of '76" law, which prescribes certain priorities for basic instruction in the schools.

A 1955 amendment to the law has been under fire from some Ohio educators who claim they are prevented from teaching world communism. The amendment requires that students must first receive basic instruction in Americanism before they can be taught about communism.

The resolution, among other things, states that "schools in Columbus, Toledo, and elsewhere have found no difficulty in carrying out the intent of the law and at the same time informing pupils about world communism and world affairs."

In all, the Ohio Legion's various committees will consider 14 resolutions. The resolutions are to be acted upon at the convention's general session Saturday.

Lynn, a candidate at Kent State University for a master's degree in business administration, will participate in a six-week company-wide orientation program prior to entering one of the boiler firm's five operating divisions or three subsidiary companies for a period of 16 weeks of specialized study.

Lynn is a 1952 Fairfield High School graduate and received his degree from Youngstown University in business administration in '56, following which he served four years in the Navy.

Man Slightly Hurt As Truck Hits Train

A New Castle, Pa., man escaped possible serious injury at 4:25 p.m. Tuesday when the truck tractor he was driving crashed into the side of a freight train and was demolished at the railroad crossing on Rt. 7 in Rogers.

The trucker, William L. Byers, 25, escaped with bruises of the nose and body. He did not require treatment.

According to the State Highway Patrol, Byers was traveling north when he drove into the side of a Youngstown & Southern Railroad boxcar 150 feet to the rear of the front engine.

Byers claimed that the warning blinkers at the crossing were not working. The engineer, Donald C. Mahon, 48, of Negley, said the lights were flashing and that he also sounded the whistle on the train.

The freight train was traveling west. The only damage to the train, the Patrol reported, was a dent in the boxcar.

Dairy Distributor Restrained by Court

The Columbiana County sheriff's office this week served Robert L. Lentz of RD 2, Beloit, a distributor of Borden dairy products, with a temporary order restraining him from selling to Select Dairy Co. customers in the Salem and Alliance areas.

The order was issued by the Stark County Common Pleas Court and forwarded to a Columbiana deputy for delivery to Lentz. Lentz plans to protest action by the competing company.

More Pupil Immunizations At Leetonia Are Urged

LEETONIA — Mrs. Sybil Degnan school nurse, in her annual report to the Board of Education, has cited the need for an expansion of the pupil immunization program.

One of the most pressing problems, she said, is the relatively small number of elementary students immunized against childhood diseases.

In the past year only 39 pupils were immunized against smallpox and 36 against polio. Seventy-three received combined shots for whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus and five others got vaccinations for diphtheria and tetanus only.

Mrs. Degnan reported 346 visits to school buildings, 144 visits in behalf of school children, 300 conferences with principals, teachers, parents, students and physicians, 1067 partial inspections and 165 visits for nursing care and first aid.

Her report shows, in vision testing, 797 first screenings, 56 second screenings, 24 defects referred and 19 defects corrected; in hearing, testing, 418 first screenings, 51 thresholds, seven defects referred and five defects corrected or treated. A total of 1,750 height and weight measurements were made along with 35 classroom talks.

Heaf tests for tuberculosis totaling 797.

A message of Christian mercy and forgiveness was presented by Jerry Thorton of North Canton, a graduate of Thiel College, Greenville, Pa., and a student at Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, at the worship service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church last Sunday morning.

Rev. M. A. Stull, father of Dr. James R. Stull, a medical missionary to Liberia, Africa, will tell of his recent visit to Liberia at the 10:45 a.m. service Sunday, July 22.

The Priscilla Club of the Lutheran Church will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the church parlor, with Mrs. Marian Lodge as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith and son Richard and Lynn Copper-smith are spending this week at Buckhorn, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna are moving to Geneva where Mr. Hanna, former Leetonia High School principal, has accepted a position.

An hour after the Senate vote, Kennedy went before television cameras and radio microphones to read a statement. He said the defeat had dealt a setback to 17 million Americans over 65, and was a blow to children of older families who have to educate their families and help their parents meet medical expenses.

Then he added: "I think the American people are going to make a decision in November as to whether they want this bill, and similar bills, to be passed, or whether they want it to be defeated. Nearly all the Republicans and a handful of Democrats joined with them to give us today's setback."

"We have to decide, the United States, in 1962, in November, in the congressional elections, whether we want to stand still or whether we want to support this kind of legislation for the benefit of the people."

"You are going to have a chance to make that judgment. With your support in November this will pass in 1963."

Also prompt in its comment was the American Medical Association. Its president, Dr. George M. Fister, said in Chicago:

"It would have been inequitable to force wage earners to pay substantially higher payroll taxes to provide health care for millions who are able to take care of themselves."

"The American Medical Association will continue its efforts to further implement and strengthen the Kerr-Mills law (which offers federal funds to states to help cover medical care for the aged under certain circumstances) and all voluntary programs to help meet health needs of the aged."

aled 941, with one case positive and Mantoux tests, another type of skin test for TB, totaled 158, with three positive.

Home visits were made for follow-up of defects reported on pre-school physical examinations and for follow-up of children with vision or hearing defects which had not received correction or treatment. Some visits were made to follow up extended absences due to illness, such as rheumatic fever.

MRS. ROSA COX, Mrs. Vernon Walters and Mrs. Nellie Atkinson held high honors when the Past Noble Grand Club met at the home of Mrs. George Wire Monday evening. Following the short business session, 500 was enjoyed. Plans to hold a picnic were discussed. The hostess served refreshments.

Rev. T. P. Laughner is home from Salem City Hospital and has resumed a limited amount of pastoral work.

Tribe Smashed 7-2 By Twins' Homers For 5th Loss In Row

Italian Club Routs Shaffer's 8-0 On Casey's No-Hitter

Angels, Yankees Capture 1-0 Wins

Killebrew, Allison Spark Twins' Victory; Romano Raps 2-Run Homer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The situation seems black. The Cleveland Indians are struggling to find a way out of their worst losing spell of the season as New York widens the gap in the American League race.

The Indians lost their fifth straight game Tuesday night when Camilo Pascual spun a five-hitter and the Minnesota Twins bombed Gary Bell in taking a 7-2 decision. Homers Account For 5 Runs Harmon Killebrew socked a three-run homer and Bob Allison banged a home run good for two runs as Minnesota raced to a 6-0 lead after three innings.

The only noise Cleveland made against Pascual was in the seventh inning when Kirkland led off with a single and John Romano blasted his 14th homer. One out later, Bubba Phillips doubled, but Pascual (14-5) then barred the door.

Cleveland now has lost five in a row and seven of its last eight.

The Indians have lost five in a row once before this season, but followed that by taking six straight.

The Twins put Bell (7-7) into hot water right at the start. Bill Tuttle and Vic Power singled. Killebrew's fly scored Tuttle. Allison then followed with his 10th homer.

Power doubled in the third and Rich Rollins drew a walk. Killebrew sent Bell to the showers with his 22nd home run.

Barry Latman (4-5) faces former Tribe hurler Dick Stigman (3-2) today.

There are some red faces in the American League today. The causes of these embarrassing blunders are Robin Roberts of Baltimore and Ken McBride of Los Angeles, a pair of cast-off pitchers shunned by the rest of the league.

Robert Gains 5th Victory

Roberts, former mainstay of the Philadelphia Phillies, was signed and then cut loose by the New York Yankees even before he had pitched a championship game. Only the Orioles were 35-year-old right-hander long since has rewarded their faith willing to gamble on him. The in him. Tuesday night the Orioles received extra dividends on their investment when Robbie pitched a seven-hitter to defeat Kansas City 3-2 for his fifth victory in eight decisions.

McBride was thrown into the grabbag by the White Sox in the American League player pool nearly two years ago and the Angels plucked him for $75,000.

A 12-game winner in 1961, the 26-year-old right-hander shut out Detroit 1-0 for his ninth straight victory and tenth of the season. He has lost only three.

Th triumph gave the Angels undisputed possession of second place but left them still 3½ games behind the Yankees, who nipped Boston 1-0 for their fifth straight victory. Minnesota dumped Cleveland Washington swept a doubleheader from the White Sox 1-0 and 7-5.

Terry Tresh Spark Yankee Win

Ralph Terry pitched a four-hitter for the Yankees and rookie shortstop Tom Tresh singled home the run in the Yankees' 1-0 triumph over the Red Sox. Gene Conley matched Terry's shutout pitching until the eighth when Hector Lopez and Cleto Boyer singled and Tresh came through with his two-out blow.

In another 1-0 decision, Dave Stenhouse of Washington bested Juan Pizarro of the White Sox in the first game of their two-night twin bill. Rookie Don Lock homered for the only run. Stenhouse pitched a three-hitter for his eighth victory. The Senators, blanked by Early Wynn with three hits through seven innings, erupted for six runs in the eighth for their two-game sweep. Tom Cheney was the winner.

Bucs Ahead of Pennant Winning Year

Groat, the NL batting champion two years ago with .325, dipped to .275 in 1961. He's back up to .316 this season. Clemente, the defending batting champion, is hitting .349.

Law, a 20-game winner in '60, was out most of last year with a sore arm. He won only three games. This year, the veteran right-hander already owns eight victories.

"We're playing at a better clip than we did two years ago," said Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Yet, we're still in third place."

Pittsburgh has won 17 of its last 21 games and lifted its season's won-lost record to 57 victories and 35 defeats. This is two games better than the Pirates' 1960 gait after 92 games. Their record then was 55-37 and they led the league by a half game over Milwaukee.

The Pirates' comeback from sixth place in 1961 can be traced directly to the comebacks of Bob Skinner, Dick Groat and Vern Law plus the continued lusty hitting of Roberto Clemente.

Skinner, who hit 15 homers and drove in 86 runs in 1960, tailed off to only three home runs and 42 RBI last year. His 1962 totals are 10 homers and 47 runs batted in with a .328 average.

Palmer Looking To PGA Crown

171 Set To Compete In 44th Tournament

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Associated Press Sports Writer NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP) - Arnold Palmer, the one big Injun chief on this golf course where every hole has an Indian name, faces 171 little Indians Thursday in the opening round of the 44th PGA championship.

Some could qualify as chiefs in their own right—National Open champion Jack Nicklaus, for example, or defending champion Jerry Barber, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Gene Littler, Jay Hebert or a dozen or so others who could win almost any tournament.

But no one in recent years has dominated professional golf to the extent that Palmer does. He has to be tabbed as favorite every time he starts. So far this year Palmer has won the British Open title—only last week—the Masters and five other U.S. tournaments and lost the U.S. Open title in a playoff to Nicklaus.

An oddity of the pairings has these two together again for two rounds over the 7045-yard, par 35-35-70 Aronimink course in Philadelphia's "Main Line" suburban area. They also played together in the National Open and in the Western Open. Nicklaus, who had an unhappy week in Scotland while Palmer was registering his latest victory, professes to be delighted.

"If you can play with Palmer and stay even with him or ahead of him, you know you're doing pretty well. He's never far behind," said the blond Ohio youngster.

Odum's Wins 3-1, Regains 'A' Lead

Lisbon Hotel Falls From 1st Place Tie; Panzott Chalks Up One-Hitter

Don Casey hurled the first no-hit, no-run game in Class A League action this year as he pitched the Italian Club to an 8-0 victory over Shaffer Ford in one of three loop games at Kelley Park Tuesday.

In the other battles Odum's So-hio took over sole possession of first place with a 3-1 triumph over the Bliss behind Bill Panzott's one-hitter as the Lisbon Hotel was defeated 5-2 by the Salem Democrats and fell from the top spot tie with Odum's.

THE VICTORY GIVES Odum's a 14-4 record while Lisbon slipped to a 13-5 mark, one game off the pace. Third place Italian Club chalked up its 10th win against seven setbacks.

Casey had perfect control as he faced only 15 Shaffer batters and did not allow a man to reach base. He fanned two.

The Italian Club gave Casey a 3-0 margin in the second inning as Paul Paster led off the frame with a walk and was followed by another walk to Mike Paster, a double by Dave Schuster and a sacrifice fly by Casey.

A four-run rally in the fourth canto was sparked by Larry Ingeldue, Jim Foreman and Mike Paster, all collecting singles. Two walks and an error aided the winners to roll to a 7-0 lead after four innings of play.

Pacing the seven-hit attack for the Italian Club were Ingeldue, Foreman and Mike Paster with two singles each.

Odum's moved to a 1-0 lead in the first half of the initial frame on singles by Jerry Jeffries and George Alek but the Bliss tied the count in the last half of the canto on an error and a walk along with some fancy base running.

THE WINNERS WENT ahead in the third stanza, 2-1, on two walks, a sacrifice fly by Alek and a single by Panzott.

Odum's third tally came in the seventh frame when Wendell Hamilton led the inning off by getting hit by the pitcher and Jeffries brought him home with a triple.

Panzott allowed the Bliss a lone single in the second inning to Bruce Riley as he faced 24 batters, walked two and struck out eight.

Jeffries, Alek and Panzott featured for Odum's as each socked two safeties.

The Lisbon Hotel fell from its first place tie with Odum's as the Salem Democrats' hurler John Moulin allowed only three hits while the Hotel nine committed six errors.

Three Hotel miscues in the first frame paved the way to a 3-0 Democrats lead as Larry Moulin rapped a single to feature in the inning.

A solo homer by Jeff Wilson in the second canto increased the Democrats' margin to 4-0 before Lisbon tallied a run. The losers managed to chalk up two runs in the third inning without getting a hit. Two errors and an infield out aided the Hotel to break into the scoring column.

MOULIN FACED THE first 13 batters before he gave up two successive hits in the fourth inning to Irvin Guthrie and Bob Huffman. Bevo Francis collected the only other safety off Moulin in the sixth canto.

Dave Williams and Jeff Wilson showed the way for the Democrats with two hits each.

In gaining the victory Moulin walked only one batter and fanned three. Jerry Bryson suffered the loss for Lisbon.

Sammy Baugh, Wismer Patch Up Differences Over Firing

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Sammy Baugh has joined the thin line of coaches and managers, including Casey Stengel, who have been paid for not running a ball club.

Slingin' Sam has nothing but the best to say about the boys he left behind on the New York Titans of the American Football League. After coaching the Titans for two years, Baugh will be paid off in full—$20,000—for the last year of his contract.

"They have better material and a better club than we had last year," Baugh said Tuesday when he and owner Harry Wismer smoked the peace pipe in public at a news conference.

Although Baugh hadn't heard from Wismer since the next-to-last game of the 1961 season and had reported to training camp at East Stroudsburg, Pa., without any official notice of his firing, all was sweetness and light.

"We're both good friends," said Wismer. "Everything worked out all right. Sammy will be paid in full for the year."

"I've always liked Harry," said Baugh. "We've had our little differences but I've enjoyed working with the Titans."

How about Baugh? What's next? "I like this league. I'd like to stay in it. I wouldn't mind a college job if it was close to home. But I'd prefer the pros."

Phils Thriving On Expansion Clubs; Reds Trip Dodgers

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
You can get an argument on whether expansion was a good thing for the National League, but you won't get it from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phils, who tied a record for futility last year, are thriving on the expansion clubs. Tuesday night they took their ninth and tenth straight from the sagging Houston Colts, who have yet to beat them. The scores were 3-0 and 8-2. The two-night double-header loss ran the Houston record to 20 losses in the last 23 games.

At the other end of the league standings, the leading Los Angeles Dodgers had their troubles, too. Koufax Last One Inning

Sore-handed Sandy Koufax last-ed only an inning against the Cincinnati Reds and gave up two runs before he retired with a blister on the forefinger of his left hand. The Reds went on to a 7-5 victory, cutting the Dodgers' lead over the San Francisco Giants to one game.

The Giants pushed over a run without a hit in the ninth inning to beat Milwaukee 4-3.

Ageless Stan Musial cracked a three-run homer to give the St. Louis Cardinals a victory over the Chicago Cubs, 8-6. The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Mets were not scheduled.

Koufax' difficulties dealt a blow to the Dodgers. The great left hander has been suffering from a mysterious numbness in his pitching hand for about a month. He has not been able to finish a game since July 4, when he beat the Phillies, 16-1.

The Braves were in a give-away mood against the Giants. With Warren Spahn on the mound, Mack Jones misplayed a line drive by Willie Mays into a double in the first inning and Orlando Cepeda followed with a two-out homer. Felipe Alou added a homer in the seventh.

Musial Raps 3-Run Homer
Musial plastered his three-run homer in the sixth inning with the Cardinals trailing 5-4. It was the 13th of the season and 457th of his career. Larry Jackson, hurt by a leaky defense, got the victory although Lindy McDaniel worked the last three innings, giving up a homer to Ernie Banks, his 23rd.

Johnny Callison homered for the Phils as they shut out the Colts in the first game behind Jack Hamilton, who went the first seven, and Jack Baldschun. Frank Torre was the hitting star in the second game with two singles and a triple, as Cal McLish won his sixth game with relief help from Dennis Bennett.

Hot Stove Leagues

One Class E, two Class F, two Class G and two Class H encounters were played in Hot Stove League activity Tuesday.

Class E
Homers by Ken Krause and Chuck Emmerling pushed CIO 3816 into a 4-0 lead after two innings of play and CIO 3372 could never catch up as it suffered a 7-1 defeat.

Krause's blast tied the game in the first inning at 1-1 as he led off the last half of the canto. CIO singles by Bink Washington and Jim Hipple provided the big blows.

A THREE-RUN CLOUT by Emmerling in the second frame put the game out of the reach of the losers.

Emmerling with a triple to go along with his homer and Tracy Bissell with two doubles paced CIO 3816.

Class F
Barry Marks tossed a four-hit shutout as the Farmers Bank downed Shaffer Ford 3-0.

A triple by Dave Bruderly and a single by Marks produced the first run for the winners in the top half of the first.

Bruderly with three safeties showed the way for the Bank nine. In gaining the victory Marks walked three and fanned 10.

The Eljer sent the tournament-bound Elks to a 5-3 defeat even though the losers collected 11 hits. Eljer broke a 1-1 deadlock in the fourth inning when Bart Melinger led off with a walk and then successive doubles by Gary Stoddard and Chuck Montgomery followed to move the winners into a 3-1 lead which they never lost.

Stoddard paced the Eljer nine with two hits.

Leading the way in the 11-hit attack of the losing Elks crew were Scott Thompson, Jim Miller and Ray McNutt with two safeties apiece.

Class G
Bricker & Bricker tallied in every inning but the first in rolling past the Atlantic Club 8-4.

THE LOSERS TOOK a 3-0 lead in the second canto on singles by Ray Zentko and Allen Stiffler and a double by Greg Cline.

Bricker's came back in the last half of the second with two runs and the winners tied the count in the third. A three-run rally in the fourth stanza was sparked by Da-

Between Japanese beetles, oat bugs, poison ivy and what have you, this is the most miserable time of the year to enjoy the outdoors.

This time of the year is commonly referred to as "dog-days." The tiniest scratch or insect bite seems to be ten times worse than any other time of the year.

I have a fungus of some sort which the doctor said could have been contracted going through the bushes. At any rate I have been out of circulation for two weeks. The fungus is something like poison ivy but more vicious.

VACATIONERS COMING BACK from points in Canada report bass fishing in the Trent River area is fabulous. There's something about this season that has provided good bass fishing right in our own area. Seems that bass have been on na Barnes' double, two errors and a walk.

Randy Keefer and Barnes rapped two hits each for the Bricker nine. Jim Wagner hurled the victory and struck out 10 batters.
Cline featured for the losers with three hits.
The Fire Department chalked up its 12 win without a loss by dumping Scott's Sports 5-4. No details were available on the contest.

Class H
Undefeated Moose Lodge edged past the Jaycees 7-6 for its 11th straight win against no losses. The winners took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on singles by Dave Paxson and Jack Detwiler powering the way. The Jaycees never caught up with the Moose aggregation.

Pacing the 10-hit attack for the Moose were Paxson and Fred Safted with two safeties each. Jay Youtz chipped in with a triple for the winners.

Ralph Flanagan chalked up two of the three hits the Jaycees collected off three Moose hurlers.

THE MERCHANTS VENDING nine broke a six-game losing streak as they routed Home Furniture 11-5. The Vending is now 5-7 for the year.

Trailing 5-2 going into the last half of the third inning the winners exploded for five runs as three walks, an error, a double by Tom Capel and a single by Box Hissom sparked the rally.

Leading the way for the Vending team was Tom Fisher with two hits.

Glen Whitacre rapped a homer and Dan Koch socked a triple for the losers.

RIGHT ABOVE THIS source is another pipe line flowing out of Pennsylvania into the same drainage area that is equally as bad. There's also seepage coming out of the hillside in Pennsylvania from some source that is undesirable.

I contend that if the two main sources of bad water are stopped in Ohio and Pennsylvania, the problem will be licked. This little creek or drainage area probably would be a dry run but for the supply of what appears to be acid mine wastes that provides an unhealthy current of pollution.

Down around Irondale, Little Yellow Creek is a mess. Go see for yourself! When a game protector reports these conditions he has done his duty. He does not have the power of arrest for pollution. That rests with health authorities.

Ohio Majorette Title Is Won by Mickey Hoffman

DAMASCUS — A slim, hazel-eyed lass who leads the West Branch Junior Band during school terms is the new Junior Miss Majorette of Ohio.

Sweeping aside all competition Sunday at Cedar Point, 13-year-old Mickey Hoffman won the title at the World Twirling Association state championship contest.

Mickey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hoffman, outpointed her opposition in five different events: fancy strutting, solo twirling, military strutting, modeling and talent.

The win entitles the Knox School eighth grader, who is tall for her age (5'2"), to compete in the world finals to be held in Topeka the week of Aug. 20.

The star twirler, who has been in competition for five years since she was eight years old, has won a total of 324 awards including 171 trophies. In 1958-59 she was the juvenile state strutter in the United States Twirling Association contest and the following year she won the same title in the contest sponsored in Ohio by the Drum Majorettes of America.

To accumulate points in the talent section Sunday Mickey presented a potpourri of river melodies. She is an accomplished flutist and bassoonist in the junior high orchestra and is featured twirler for the junior band.

Constantly training, Mickey receives twirling instructions from Beverly James of Cleveland, modeling tips from the Jane Skinner Studio in Canton and music lessons from Kay Duke of Lisbon.

4-H Clubs To Hold Contests Monday

Columbiana County 4-H clubs will have their annual demonstration contests Monday at 7 p.m. in the First Christian Church.

County Agent Floyd Lower of Lisbon said individuals and teams will compete in four categories: agriculture, foods, clothing and miscellaneous. Winners advance to state fair competition at Columbus.

Butler Township Budget Approved

A public hearing on the $52,708 budget for 1963, approved two weeks earlier by the Butler Township Board of Trustees, brought no opposition at the trustees' regular meeting Monday night.

The three trustees present — Chairman Donald R. Cameron, William D. Hoopes and Albert Althouse—gave the budget final approval.

The board passed a resolution to accept the bid of the Eckert Equipment Co. of Homeworth for a new Massey-Ferguson tractor and highlift at a cost of $4,850 to do road work. Eight bids were received.

Bills totaling $1,050 were approved for payment.

Two property owners were present to discuss a mutual fence problem, which was resolved.

The next meeting will be Aug. 6.

A word from THERON at the Country Store Experts Report On Anonymous Letter From Stamp Saver.

The writer is prone to voicing an opinion without carefully analyzing facts from all angles. There is a tendency to skim the surface and get only what satisfies the curiosity. There is no evidence whatsoever of a deep careful thinker. The resentment, sarcasm and analytical ability causes the writer to be very critical and fault finding. Writer is deliberate and independent as well as set in his ways. He is aggressive and will not hesitate to move in to get what he wants. He can be most pessimistic at times and is one who will generally leave himself an OUT.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Tags Bear Medical Information

A family tragedy inspired Dr. Marion C. Collins to establish a nonprofit organization that has helped 55,000 persons lead a safer life.

Five years ago Dr. Collins' daughter died of shock after an injection of antitetanus serum. Had the doctor known that she would have a reaction to the injection she would have been spared.

Dr. Collins has set up the Medical-Aert Foundation in Turlock, Calif. The group provides instructible, stainless steel or silver bracelets or necklaces with engraved warnings.

Some messages state that the wearer is a diabetic or taking insulin. Others warn that the person is allergic to some specific substance such as serum, penicillin, morphine and its derivatives or to local anesthetics.

OTHER EMBLEMS carry the blood type in much the manner of Army "dog tags." Still others state that the wearer is taking a certain drug such as antabuse, in the case of an alcoholic; cortisone, in the case of an arthritic or asthmatic; digitalis, in the case of a cardiac; one of the cumarols, in instances where the blood clotting time has had to be lengthened (following a coronary thrombosis or a stroke).

In each of these instances, the emblem also contains a serial number and these serial numbers, together with the information engraved on the bracelet or necklace, are kept in a central file that is maintained on 24-hour call at 700 Montgomery St., San Francisco 11, Calif. (EXbrook 2-6552). Also in the file are kept the wearer's address, the family physician's name and address, and the name and address of the nearest relative or friend.

If you are sufficiently fortunate to have no medical need for wearing one of these emblems, you might be wise to provide yourself with one anyway just in case you happen to be involved in some serious accident.

AKRON MAN KILLED

Hearing Set on Move To Padlock E. Liverpool Club

LISBON A hearing on the state of Ohio's application for a temporary injunction against the Veterans Social Club, East Liverpool, as a public nuisance is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in Common Pleas Court.

Ultimately, the state seeks to padlock the Pennsylvania Ave. club for one year, but no such action will result Friday since the hearing is on the application only.

Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw has called approximately 20 witnesses to present evidence against the club and Samuel Johnson of East Liverpool who owns the premises and is club steward.

The club has been the scene of several cuttings and brawls in recent years.

Brokaw said it is unlikely he will have time to present many witnesses Friday. He said he will ask the court for the case to be heard on its merits as quickly as possible. Out of that hearing could come a padlock order.

Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Brokaw's opponent in many of the East Liverpool police burglary cases, represents Johnson.

Municipal Court Judge Samuel Chertoff of East Liverpool will be a witness for the state. He urged Brokaw to file the padlock action.

Summitville

The Junior and Senior Westminster Fellowship groups of the Bethesda Church met at the home of Loretta Phillips for a wieners roast Sunday. A joint worship service was held under the leadership of Mrs. Allen Burrows. Eighteen members and guests were present.

Jimmy Sherwood of East Liverpool and Robbie Carter recently returned home after spending a week at Father Kane Camp at Lake Milton.

Miss Loretta Young of Cleveland and Mrs. Forrest Young and Mrs. Raymond DeSelle of here attended a stork shower in honor of Mrs. John Albanese of Wells-ville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meiser and John and Jamie of Yuma, Ariz., visited friends and relatives here recently. They are former residents of Summitville.
